

Assessment appeal Multipliers may multiply for '79 year

You may think past assessment multipliers, but "you haven't seen anything yet," Madison County Supervisor of Assessments James Barton indicated during the weekend while denying speculation that he may retire.

Noting that a tentative county multiplier of 7.5 percent was set by the state before a one multiplier was achieved for the 1978 tax year (1979 collection), Barton said the state's tentative multiplier for the 1979 year may be 18 percent above the figures set by the 24 township assessors as adjusted by the assessment supervisor and Madison County Board of Review.

Cutbacks ahead; Aiassi to retire

Having decided March 6 to eliminate three grade schools in an economy move, the Granite City Board of Education tomorrow night may determine how many teaching, administrative and other jobs to terminate.

Among the administrators who will not be on the payroll after June 1 is Eugene L. Aiassi, who announced plans today for retirement after a 35-year career. He is administrative consultant on art education and public relations coordinator of Community Unit School District Nine.

Declining to announce specific employment plans, Aiassi commented, "It is with great expectations that I am looking toward new horizons. Aiassi has not missed a day's work in over 25 years, and has never taken a personal leave day. He long ago accumulated the maximum of 200 available sick leave days.

Considered one of the most skilled art educators in the nation, Aiassi has received a wide range of recognition and awards and has played a leadership role in the region, state and nation.

multiplier because it would be applied to overassessed as well as underassessed real estate property.

Barton's ouster is sought by a group of eastern county residents who say they received township multipliers determined arbitrarily, rather than by a sufficient number of actual sales values.

Arthur Schuette of Livingston, a spokesman for the Organizing Committee of Eastern Madison County, said after a meeting Friday that the group will appeal to state officials and legislators.

He said aid will be sought from Illinois Attorney William Scott, widely known as a defender of "little people" who lack political influence.

The group also favors legislation to have the county assessment supervisor and Review Board members elected instead of appointed.

News notes Litter crackdown by county official

Paul T. Hawkins, Madison County environmental, building and zoning administrator, said last week that "complaints have been received by this department concerning newspapers being thrown in yards and along street curbs. We were informed by some residents they sometime find numerous papers scattered in their yard which are very unsightly, and must be cleaned up for disposal."

"This type of paper delivery is a definite violation of the Illinois Litter Control Act, which you will fully understand after reading excerpts from the Illinois Litter Control Act."

"Letters have been sent by this department to several smaller papers advising them some acceptable method of distribution must be used other than throwing papers from a moving vehicle. If they do not comply, we have no choice other than turn the matter over to the state's attorney for legal action," Hawkins said.

Puc Act 78-977 says there is an exception to the newspaper ban where there is prior consent by the owner or tenant and where the method of delivery "does not create a public health or safety hazard, a public nuisance or a fire hazard."

The second in a series of four public forums will be conducted by the Illinois Natural Resources Sub-cabinet Thursday, March 29, from 7:30 to 10 p.m. The meeting will be held at the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 309 Building, located on Illinois 157 at Interstate 70. STREET VEHICLE RECORDS displayed by Street Supt. Lionell Portell on his desk Thursday afternoon.

Portell cites records; admits some deficiencies

Street Supt. Lionell Portell reacted calmly Thursday afternoon to allegations by a former alderman that his department has been allowed to deteriorate to an extreme degree.

Displaying file cards which he allowed to be inspected, the elected street executive pointed to records on each piece of street equipment, showing quarterly or semi-annual conditioning and repair of vehicles and mechanisms.

He conceded that the system of recording lubrication and other preventive maintenance procedures did not begin until 1976. He has been Granite City street superintendent since 1971.

Portell acknowledged that safety guards, flashing lights and other safety-related devices are missing from many vehicles. He said they often are damaged by piles of tree limbs or other debris carried on the streets.

Replacement of missing lights is carried out promptly on snowplows and similar equipment operating when visibility is limited, the superintendent said, adding that replacement is not as quick or automatic on trucks and certain other vehicles.

Portell voiced pride in the operation of the department.

Acknowledging that no sewers were checked or flushed out last week, he said higher-priority tasks were being handled, and that it would be economically unjustified to open up sewers on a rotating basis unless a problem was suspected.

Arson probe in fire and explosion today

An explosion and fire destroyed the Upper Level Lounge, 19th and State streets, at 2:19 a.m. today. "It is highly probable the fire was deliberately set," Assistant Granite City Fire Chief George Smolich commented after examining the rubble.

The fire was contained in the second floor, but the Capri Beauty Academy, on the first floor, sustained water damage. And the third floor of the building had minor smoke damage.

The origin of the fire appears to have been a storage room behind the bar which had an unused natural gas outlet. "We are attempting to determine how the gas ignited, but do believe natural gas was involved in the explosion," Smolich said.

Richard Stemmer Jr., manager of the tavern, was notified at his home of the fire and told authorities he had locked the lounge about 2 a.m. today.

'Manpower' aiding center

Granite City Inspector Emerald Dawes last week denied reports that he had been at the rear of Bellemore Village Shopping Center supervising a cleanup of the parking lot by Manpower employees of the city. But a city car and several Manpower personnel were there.

Dawes, who has been in charge of cleanup and routine maintenance for the shopping center for several years, said the work being done by Manpower workers there has nothing to do with his private job for the shopping center.

"I no longer do maintenance for Bellemore Village. I kind of oversee the operator, however. I have someone who does it for me," he said.

Dawes also said that he has sent

Manpower crews to the shopping center, on occasion, but only to clean the easements where paper and trash is blown by wind and accumulates.

"I did tell them to go clean the easements up. I do that for all of the shopping centers, and for Jack-in-the-Box, Kroger and other areas where trash accumulates. They may have been there this morning, I don't know," Dawes said last week.

"I do look for jobs for these kids. We have to keep them busy and they won't let them work on the streets."

"However, I do not go out on jobs with them. I might drive through and see if they have done the work, but I don't go with them," Dawes stated.

Fee hike noted

Following is a statement released Friday by the Granite City mayor's office, discussing the 116 percent increase in sewage treatment fees to be billed next month.

"Since the new sewage treatment fee was announced early this year there have been a number of inquiries into why it was increased from $6 to $13 per quarter.

"The answer is relatively simple — the revenue from user charges is not sufficient to meet both the operating

Jury trial for Rapoff and Rozycki

Associate Judge P. J. O'Neill is to set a jury trial date in late April for real estate broker Walter M. Rozycki, 52, of 2216 Madison Ave., and Andrew T. Rapoff, 54, of Osage Beach, Mo., who are charged with reckless conduct and battery.

The two are accused of beating Granite City Seventh Ward Alderman Ronald L. Coleman, 44, of 2445 Woodlawn Ave., in the parking lot of Charlie's Restaurant Aug. 16, 1978.

Assistant Madison County State's Attorney Casper Nighoghossian, who is prosecuting the case, said delays in bringing the case to trial have been caused by problems in the discovery process, especially in obtaining blood samples from the defendants for evidence.

A court order for blood samples was complied with after a hearing had been scheduled on whether their property bonds should be revoked; the court ordered the bonds reinstated after blood samples were received, Nighoghossian said.

Rozycki is free on a $10,000 property bond and Rapoff is on a $5,000 property bond.

Coleman alleges he was leaving the restaurant's lounge when one man yelled at him and acted as though he wanted to shake hands. When Coleman approached, the man called him a name, struck him in the face with a fist and knocked him down, Coleman alleged.

Coleman was allegedly kicked and beat him, causing abrasions to his face, chest and neck, cuts to his upper lip and forehead and a laceration to his face. His injuries required treatment at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Associate Judge E. William Johnson set bond on the two, and the case was assigned to Associate Judge Thomas Gibbons. A change of judge was requested and the case was assigned to Associate Judge George Moran, who heard preliminary motions. Johnny O'Neill then was assigned to hear the case and has agreed to set a trial date.

"There will be no continuances from the date he sets because I will have subpoenas out for witnesses. I estimate the trial will take three to five days," Nighoghossian said.

2 on cycle are injured

The motorcycle of Mark Fulcher, 20, of 3849 B St., Pontoon Beach, and the station wagon of Terry Sutton, 20, of 1738 Second St., Madison, collided on Madison Avenue north of 23rd Street last week, resulting in injuries to Fulcher and a passenger on the cycle.

Fulcher and Robert Niemeyer, 20, of 303 Wilson Park Lane, were taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where both were released after treatment. Fulcher suffered bruises to his chin, left elbow and leg and a broken bone in his left leg.

Sutton said a school bus stopped for his station wagon turning onto the street, where it collided with the motorcycle which was passing the bus on the left.

The ARS is a charitable, educational and cultural organization with the primary goal of helping to meet the needs of the Armenian people in many lands.

The society sponsors concentrated summer study programs for American Armenians at the collegiate level, and also provides scholarship grants to qualified students.

Honorary chairman for the day's activities was Rev. Habeshian.

An induction ceremony for eight new members was conducted by Mrs. Berjuni Habeshian, a member of the National ARS Central Executive Committee.

Newcomers welcomed were Mary Bedian, Nelle Bogossian, Lisa Bedian, Marojan Karibian, Jacklyn Nicozisin, Arpie Sarian, Rita Garabedian and Mary Deukmejian.

expenses of the facility and to pay the principal and interest on the bonds used for the construction of the plant. The reason this has happened, however, is more complex.

"This problem is the direct result of two conditions developing simultaneously which have had an adverse effect upon the sewage treatment plant fund.

"First, there has been a substantial increase in operating costs, and second, there has been a lengthy delay in the four-township sanitary sewer project.

"In 1975, the last year of primary treatment, the operating cost of the sewage treatment plant was $286,244, while in 1977, the first full year of secondary treatment, the operating cost was $766,557.

"While an increase in cost was known and prepared for during the conversion, the per-unit cost and quantities of materials increased in excess of the estimates.

of $47.50 a ton, a 30 percent increase. "Power consumption has increased from an average of 49,442 kilowatts per month in 1975 to 672,800 kilowatts per month in 1978. This resulted in an increase from $488 per month to $15,508 per month.

"Manpower also has increased, from 16 during primary treatment operation to 33 for the current secondary treatment operation.

"The unanticipated cost increase was magnified by a corresponding loss of anticipated revenues due to the delay in the four-township sewer project.

"This delay has meant a loss of approximately $450,000 in fees which were originally estimated to be available to offset the operating cost and debt service.

"Given the situation in which the city was experiencing increased costs and a decrease in anticipated revenue, it decided to pursue a short-term solution that would not involve a rate increase.

"Action was taken to use money which had been placed in a series of accounts as outlined in Ordinance 3010, which established the parameters of the construction bond issue.

"The plan was to use this money to meet expenses and debt service requirements until the additional revenue from the four-township sewer project was realized.

"As of May 31, 1976, these accounts were fully funded, according to the required levels at that date. However, by May 31, 1978, there was a $575,514 deficit.

"The city was notified by Allstate, the major bond holder, and Curry and Lenhardt, city auditors, that it must immediately revise its rate structure in order to meet the condition of the bond sale and to avoid a default situation.

"Curry and Lenhardt was directed to develop a number of rate structures and plans which would meet the demands of the bond holders and return the sewage treatment fund to its proper level within a reasonable amount of time. The result was the revised rate structure enacted in November 1978.

"In summary, the city was forced into a position of unwillingly increasing sewage rates in order to preserve its favorable rating in the bond market.

"This was brought on by an unpredictable increase in the cost of essential operating materials and the township sewers being delayed for two years due to lawsuits.

"After keeping the treatment rates as low as possible for as long as possible, the city was forced into increasing the rate from $6 to $13 per quarter, or $1 per week, which was the minimum solution acceptable to the bond holders," the statement concluded.

REV. JACK KALEY

Ed Besserman — a good neighbor

By CATHEY JAMISON
Press-Record Staff Writer
Ed Besserman, 3041 Maryville Road, is the kind of guy who would tell you that he was just doing his job. His neighbor may well be able to say that he owes his life to the emergency medical technician (EMT). The two neighbors attended the same wedding last weekend. During the evening, the neighbor had a heart attack.

Besserman, being a registered EMT, knew to keep his friend quiet and comfortable while an ambulance was summoned.

Besserman went to the hospital with his neighbor and sat with the family during the long hours when no one knew if the man would make it. The man is due to get out of intensive care soon. Besserman has gone straight to the hospital from work every day, just to do what he could to help out.

He might have been "just doing his job." But if he had not been at that wedding with his neighbor, this story might not have had a happy ending. Besserman is being called a good Samaritan of the highest order.

$25 million added to county's corporate personal property values in past 3 years

Below are statements presented last week to Madison County Board of Review members by Supervisor of Assessments James Barton on the use of certificates of error in selected Illinois counties: The 14 largest counties (according to the number of parcels) were written in by telephone to determine how certificates of error were used. Smaller counties were contacted based on their proximity to Madison County.

These counties were asked how many certificates of error were written in a typical year, whether a significant number of certificates of error were used for personal property, whether certificates of error were used for homestead exemptions, and whether the certificates of error were taken to court for approval.

The 1,600 certificates of error written in Madison County represent 1.6 percent of the total number of parcels. The number of certificates of error as a percentage of the total number of parcels in the other counties surveyed ranged from 0.1 percent to 3.0 percent.

In two counties, Kankakee and Randolph, the percentage was higher than in Madison County.

However, no county but Madison reported using a large number of certificates of error for personal property. The typical response was that almost all certificates of error were for real estate.

The larger number of certificates of error on personal property in Madison stems from this county's aggressive effort to assess personal property fairly.

Many counties in anticipation of the elimination of personal property taxation, let administration slide.

In Madison County, however, the Supervisor of Assessments office felt that (1) the county would be entitled to more replacement revenue if and when the personal property tax was eliminated by establishing and maintaining personal property assessments at the proper level; and (2) as long as personal property is assessable, it should be assessed fairly and all taxable businesses should be on the tax rolls.

Inescapable in this type of aggressive assessment administration are some mistakes which are subject to correction by certificate of error.

Between 1976 and 1978 nearly $25 million was added to the personal property assessment rolls in Madison County by the Supervisor of Assessments Office.

Over this same period, many counties did not increase personal property valuations despite inflationary trends. Some counties even lost valuation.

In St. Clair County, for example, local personal property assessments dropped by $33 million between 1975 and 1977.

Defoliant poisoning discussed

Jon R. Furst, counseling supervisor at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Office of Veterans Affairs, introduced guests who were on campus Tuesday to discuss concerns about "Agent Orange" and possible dioxin poisoning, particularly among veterans who served in Vietnam.

Speaking were Ron DeYoung of Chicago, president of Concerned American Veterans Against Toxins, and David Kriebel, research associate with the Center for the Biology of Natural Systems, at Washington University.

Nearly 100 veterans and other area residents attended the meeting in the University Center.

Agent Orange was a defoliant used by the military services in Vietnam.

*Will County was also contacted but due to the absence of the Supervisor of Assessments, the desired information could not be obtained.

APPENDIX

In most counties surveyed, Board of Review approval of certificates of error was considered sufficient and the certificates of error were not taken into court.

In only four of the counties surveyed were the courts routinely used. These four counties were DuPage, Kane, Kankakee and Lake. The method of presenting the certificates of error to the court differed in each county.

Based on these findings it can be inferred that in the vast majority of counties approval of certificates of error by the Board of Review has been considered to be sufficient and that, rightly or wrongly, presenting them to a court has not been part of normal operating procedures.

Chasing sales — Some assessors are inclined to apply 33 1/3 percent of the selling price to a parcel of property when a transfer comes through. If the Board of Review also applies a multiplier to that township the person already assessed at 33 1/3 is penalized.

In 1976, the Supervisor of Assessments office applied a 10 percent multiplier to Edwardsville Township resulting in a publication cost of $2,537.

By law, the supervisor of assessments must publish each and every parcel changed. Therefore, every parcel was published and every taxpayer was notified individually of the change in their assessment.

They were then granted 20 days to file a complaint with the Board of Review for a hearing.

Due to the large backlog of numerous complaints, this necessitated the Board of Review being extended to May 15 instead of adjourning Dec. 31 as prescribed by statute.

It was recommended by the Department of Local Government Affairs at that time to let the Board of Review apply the multipliers, as they do have to publish every parcel. They only have to publish the township and the amount of the multiplier eliminating the high cost of publishing every parcel.

When the Board of Review publishes multipliers, many taxpayers never see what their assessment has been increased to until they receive their bill. Many people had been assessed at 33 1/3 percent prior to the multiplier due to the assessors "chasing sales" and are at this point overassessed.

The only way for them to seek relief at such a time has been to receive a certificate of error.

Pontoon continues codification work

The Pontoon Beach Village Board met Tuesday and Wednesday evenings to continue a review of village ordinances in preparation for publishing a codified ordinance book.

During Tuesday night's meeting, the board also discussed the upcoming program of street resurfacing with Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic, who is to prepare all the drainage ditches in the village for resurfacing of the streets.

Mehelic's department is doing the work for the village and is to be paid from the village's motor fuel tax allocation.

At the meeting, Mehelic requested a schedule of which streets are to be resurfaced on which days, so that he can have the ditches ready.

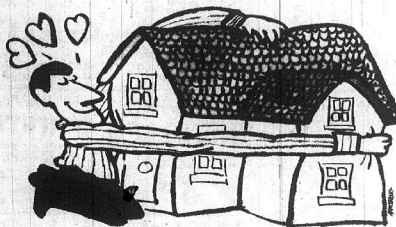

The village board also authorized Mehelic to put a drainage culvert under Lake Drive just north of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad tracks to alleviate standing water problems on the west side of the street.

A resolution establishing the salaries of all village employees and appointed officials was adopted as a necessary part of the ordinance codification. No salary or wage increases were granted by the ordinance, but raises can be given when the new fiscal year begins May 1.

Charlotte Hulett now Mrs. Lonnie Peterson

Miss Charlotte Joan Hulett, 2023a Johnson Road, became the bride of Lonnie Gene Peterson, of St. Ann, Mo., in a candlelight ceremony, Oct. 21. The groom is the son of Herbert Peterson and the late C. Lenore Peterson, of Phillipsburg, Mo.

Rev. Stanton E. Johnson officiated at the double-ring ceremony at 8 p.m. at Trinity Tabernacle in Bridgeton, Mo.

Music was provided by Don Stratton and his wife, Lynda. They sang "We Have This Moment," "Between God, A Woman, And A Man," "My Tribute," and "In Jesus' Name."

The bride was escorted down the aisle by Paul Kelley. She selected a floor-length gown of white tulle with a high neckline and a high wedding band collar, and a round yoke of organza enhanced with Venice lace. The camelot sleeves were accented with a satin ribbon, and the full bouffant skirt was highlighted with a back panel of organza ruffles which flowed into a cathedral train.

She chose a fingertip veil of white illusion edged in matching lace, secured with a lace and pearl encrusted camelot headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue elegance carnations, white carnations and baby's breath.

Honor attendant, Mrs. Ruth Prier, and bridesmaids, Mrs. Faith Rodgers, and Mrs. LaVerne Odum, chose identically styled gowns of royal blue tulle with organza overlay. The mushroom pleated capelet sleeves were enhanced with chiffon. They carried colonial bouquets of blue pom poms and white carnations with white and blue ribbons.

Miniature bride Susan Kelley wore a dress designed like the bride's. Tim Phillips was the miniature groom. Larry Peterson, the groom's brother, served as best man. Ben McGowan, Gary Cranick, Richard Drzakowski and Greg Butten served as groomsmen and ushers.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. They are residing in Granite City after a wedding trip to Florida.

The bride, a graduate of Venice High School, is employed as a secretary at Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in St. Louis.

The groom graduated from the University of Missouri at Rolla with a degree in mechanical engineering. He is employed at McDonnell Douglas as an engineer.

Madison Jr. Service views spring fashions

The March meeting of the Madison Junior Service Club was held at the recreation center last week. A dinner was held and afterward a fashion show was given, with spring fashions from Marilyn's of Granite City.

Members of the club served as models for the show. All proceeds for the evening will go to the March of Dimes.

At a business session afterwards, a note of thanks was read from the Madison Library Board for a donation by the club. Letters were read from Pam Dymas, Linda Scoglio, Carol Harlan and Rose Krawiecki accepting membership in the club.

Donations were given to the River Bluff Girl Scouts and to the Madison Fine Arts Committee.

Plans were made for some of the members to attend Wednesday's Business and Professional Women's volunteer woman of the year dinner. A Madison Junior Service member, Julia Voloski, is a nominee for the award.

A letter was read from the Madison School Board, giving approval to a program to be presented by SIUE on "Rape and Abuse" for young women of Madison High School. The program is being sponsored by the Madison Junior Service.

Hostesses for the evening were June Boelling and Gertrude Ashford. There were 113 members and guests present.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY of Mr. and Mrs. Chelsey Jerome Rider will be celebrated March 24 at the First Assembly of God Church. They were married March 23, 1929.

Mental health meeting topic

Two guest speakers from the Madison County Mental Health Clinic, Carla Lehn and Sheri Rezak, presented the program last week at a meeting of the Nameoki United Methodist Women. They spoke on the local clinic's services and emphasized the Community Support Project. Through donations of household items and non perishable foods, this project can be a very helpful boost in putting people on their own after hospitalization, the speakers added.

Mrs. Alta Stewart opened the meeting with a devotional taken from John 11, followed by prayer.

President Helene Bischoff directed the business session and the secretary and treasurers report was read by Mrs. Penny Kessler.

The United Methodist Women Spring District meeting will be held in Mascoutah on April 7. Mrs. Bischoff announced.

After the meeting refreshments were served by Dorothy Ashford and Corine Dawson to those named and to Dorothy Luckert, Mildred Naney, Dorothy Wallace, Gladys Russell, Janie Patton, Jesse Sayers and Mary Bailey.

NEW GRANDPARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph (Joan) Bloodworth of Madison are the maternal grandparents of Jeffrey William Skinner, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Skinner, 1436 State St., who was born Feb. 26 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He is the couple's first child.

MR. AND MRS. EDGAR DIETRICH

They were honored by their children March 10 with a surprise 45th wedding anniversary dinner and a reception held at Stan Musial and Biggie's. Seventy friends and relatives attended. The couple's children are Robert Dietrich of Granite City and Mrs. Richard Crane of Creve Coeur, Mo.

Havana ends Trojans' state title hopes

CHAMPAIGN — The flu bug hit the Madison High basketball team at the wrong time of the season. The Trojans saw their dreams of a second IHSA Class A (small school) state championship in three years end here Friday in abrupt fashion.

Madison couldn't recover from a cold-shooting first quarter against undefeated Havana and dropped a 75-66 decision in the quarterfinals of the state championship series at the Assembly Hall on the campus of the University of Illinois.

Madison ended its campaign with a 25-5 record.

"We just got off to a terrible start," said Madison Coach Larry Graham. "After that, we couldn't recover."

The "terrible start" referred to by Graham was a first quarter performance which saw the Trojans score only four points. Havana's Ducks meanwhile, didn't exactly scorch the nets, either. But their 18 points were enough to clinch the victory early.

The flu bug had hit two Madison starters, all-state honorable mention Kenny Stanley and forward Carlyn Jackson. Both had temperatures in excess of 100 degrees and could not practice with the rest of the squad since Wednesday.

"I'm not when that as an excuse," said Graham. "We just got beat by a good team. They have the talent to go all the way."

Madison made a comeback attempt the likes of which had Havana Coach Bob Gregurich searching for ways to cool the Trojans off.

The Trojans found the going rough all day trying to get the ball inside to all-state guard-forward James Heard. The 5-8 Heard was at the mercy of Havana's Don King (6-7) inside. "When you can't get the ball inside on a big man like that, you have to rely on your outside shooting," said Graham. "But we didn't have enough of that early in the game."

Stanley recovered from his flu in the second half enough to send a scare into Gregurich. The 6-2 Trojan scorched the nets for 22 points and a game high total of 28. "I'm glad he wasn't 100 percent," said Gregurich afterwards. "He's some kind of ball player."

But Gregurich's own son, 6-4 all-state guard Brad, was tough enough for Madison. He hit four of his first five shots in the first quarter to spark the Ducks' attack.

But Graham wasn't blaming the Havana defense on his team's demise as much as he was the Trojans' lack of movement on offense. "I'm tired of making excuses," he said. "But I know that the people up here today didn't get a chance to see the real Madison team today."

"We just didn't have any movement inside on offense," said Graham. "When we couldn't get the ball inside, we started taking some bad shots outside that wouldn't go in. It was sort of a vicious circle."

After being outscored 19-4 in that crucial first period, Madison outscored Havana 23-23 in the second quarter. Included in that second quarter was a shot at the horn by Heard that seemed to give the Trojans momentum going into the locker room at halftime. "I thought we had a real shot at that point," said Graham.

The second half opened with Madison controlling the tip, but turning the ball over to Havana. Havana's King took the ball inside for an easy layup. Then came the straight steals by Madison.

But the Trojans couldn't convert on either and King found the way for layups. "That was the turning point in my mind," said Graham.

"If we could have scored on those two turnovers, it would have put us eight points down or so. We'd have been right back in the ball game."

Thanks to Stanley and Company, the Madison team still was able to get itself back in the ball game. With 2:30 remaining, Madison had crawled to within nine points on a jumper by Jackson from nine feet out.

"At that point, I thought we were going to come back and win it," said Graham. "We had momentum, and Kenny was keeping us right in the game."

But the Trojans' lack of a strong defensive effort caught up with them. For every one Madison basket, there would be one Havana basket.

"We didn't play defense at all today," said Graham. "But I'm just as proud of these guys as I can be for the way they didn't give up and made that comeback."

The loss ended Madison's season with a 25-5 record. But if not a bout with the flu, Friday night might have ended Saturday instead of Friday with a couple more wins.

Celtics win state

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor

CHAMPAIGN — Havana's Ducks knew they were in trouble before they even left the dressing room here Friday for their clash with New Lenox-Providence for the 1979 Illinois Class A (small school) state championship.

"After all, New Lenox's team colors are green and white. The team nickname is the Celtics. And, oh yes, Saturday was St. Patrick's Day."

But with the likes of 6-8 sophomore Walter Downing on its side, New Lenox could have been Italian and still won the title. Downing scored 21 points and snared 10 rebounds to lead his number-one ranked team to a 46-33 victory over the previously undefeated Ducks from Havana. It was Havana which had ousted Madison in the quarterfinal round of the tournament Friday (see related story).

"New Lenox earned its way to the final game by being Bloomington Central Catholic Friday and Timothy Christian in Saturday's semifinals. Havana beat Riverton in the semifinals."

But even though it was Downing and his teammates who got most of the glory after all was said and done Saturday night, Havana's Ducks need look to only one thing that probably cost them the victory. The first six minutes of the game.

Providence jumped out to an early lead the likes of which hadn't been seen in the Assembly Hall since the days of Quinn Buckner and the Thornridge teams of 1971 and '72.

Led by Downing, the Celtics started like gangbusters. First, Downing made a short jumper. The score was 2-0. Then teammate Barney Mines broke out of a pileup for a loose ball and cruised in for a vicious slam-dunk that brought the crowd of over 12,000 screaming to its feet. The score was 4-0.

By the time three minutes had been played in the game, the score was 9-0. The margin became 14-2 at the end of the first quarter and 22-10 at halftime.

"That dunk by Mines really got us started," said New Lenox Coach Frank Palmasoni. "That's always been a psychological lift for us. We're much better on defense afterwards."

Downing completely neutralized Havana's big man inside, 6-7 junior center

Roger King. He held King to only two points. In fact, none of the so-called "big men" in the state tourney (King and Riverton's 6-7 Rich Fetter) scored a single basket against him in tourney play.

The game might have been a rout if not for the heroics of Havana guard Brad Gregurich, son of Head Coach Bob Gregurich. The 5-11 spunky back-court man kept the Ducks within striking distance and actually gave them a chance at a comeback in the second half.

Midway into the second half, Havana, behind Gregurich and an effective press, crept back to within six points at 26-20.

We seemed to have problems with the press all season," said Palmasoni. "Not when it's early in a game, but when we've got a lead later on."

Gregurich earned praise from both sides of the bench. "He's a hell of a player," said Palmasoni. "He kept them in it."

Father — coach Bob Gregurich was even more lavish in his lauds. "Brad really kept us in the game," he said. "He really hung in there when we needed him. I'm not saying that because he's my son, either."

It was each team's second trip to the state finals. Last year, Havana finished as runner-up to champ Nashville, while New Lenox placed third.

"If they (New Lenox) had one more student enrolled there," said Gregurich, "they'd be playing next week in the double-A tournament."

New Lenox's student enrollment is 750 — exactly the cutoff line between the larger double-A schools and smaller single-A schools.

New Lenox's Downing said a season-long dream had been fulfilled. "After last season, I'd go over to Lockport (last year's double-A champ, Lockport Central) and just sit and look at their trophy. It's up on a big spindle and I'd just stare at it."

"I made up my mind that we were going to get one too," he said.

He did.

Locals place at state

JOLIET — Three Granite City youngsters placed in the annual state Junior High Wrestling Meet here Saturday.

John Morris from Grigsby Junior High placed third in the state at 170 pounds. His teammate Rod Unger finished in fourth place at 111 pounds.

Bill Zimmer from Prather Junior High finished fifth in the 155 pound weight division.

ALL-STATE TOURNEY PICK

Kenny Stanley looks for someone to pass off to Friday in his team's 75-66 quarterfinal loss to eventual state runner-up Havana at the Assembly Hall in Champaign. Stanley was named to the all-state tourney current second team after scoring 28 points against Havana's Ducks, despite suffering from a fever of over 100 degrees shortly before the game.

Loss hard for Stanley and Heard to swallow

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

CHAMPAIGN — Kenny Stanley sat on a bench in the Madison locker room Friday his feet sprawled. He had just played his last game as a Madison Trojan.

James Heard chatted with fans in the stands during the Riverton-Carrier Mills game. He had just played his last game as a Madison Trojan.

Stanley led his team against unbeaten Havana Friday in the quarterfinals of the Class A "Elite Eight" in the Assembly Hall in Champaign. Heard, an all-state guard, had taken knocks, made steals and played his heart out.

But after the game, Havana was still unbeaten and Madison was waiting until next year. Havana won 75-66.

"I felt good when I first saw the big crowd," said Stanley. "I just knew then that we were going to do it, even though I have been more excited for other games this year. Lebanon, St. Paul-Highland and Venice."

Once the game began, it was obvious that Stanley and teammates weren't on track. He and teammate Carlyn Jackson had both been hit by a flu virus earlier in the week. It showed.

Jackson seemed in a daze while Stanley had to touch back breakfast on the sidelines. He woke up Friday morning with a fever of 102 degrees. "I wanted to play," he said. "I mean, this was the state finals!"

"I just can't believe it's all over," said Stanley. "Just a couple hours ago we were on top of the world and now it's all over."

"Even though we fell behind early (19-4), I knew we'd make a comeback. Even with just a couple minutes to go, I felt we'd win it on a last-second shot."

Stanley's illness may have been responsible for his lack of domination on the boards, something he normally does with both speed and grace. "You didn't see us out there today," he said. "It was somebody else."

For James Heard, the end to his high school career came no easier, although perhaps a little less physically painful.

"I'm feeling a little better," said Heard, decked-out in a sharp blue denim suit during the halftime of the afternoon's second game.

"We fell behind early and that was the whole game. We just couldn't catch up."

Heard was a little more accepting of the fact that his team had been eliminated. "It's just a pleasure to get here," he said. "But after you've been here once and won it all (as the team did in 1977), anything less just doesn't make it."

Havana is a really good team," said Heard. "But if we had played together as a team the whole game, we'd have taken 'em."

As Madison fans walked by Heard, they slapped him on the back. Shots of "Great game, James," or "We love you," came from across the way.

Heard was asked what his plans are for the immediate future. "What next?" he asked. "I'll go out for track."

Heard is a rarity today among high school athletes.

He could attend college on scholarships in three sports. Football, basketball or track. He is a sprinter on the Madison High track team and a fullback for the Trojans in the fall.

"I'd like to play football in college," said the straight-A student. "I really feel I have a better chance than in basketball because of my size." Heard stands only 5-11.

How did the rest of the Madison team react to the defeat at the hands of Havana? "I don't think anyone cried," said Stanley. "But we were really disappointed."

Meanwhile, the tournament continued. There were three other teams eliminated from post-season play on the same day as Madison. But to Kenny Stanley and James Heard, they really didn't matter.

Havana could go on and win it. Stanley they eventually finished second.

"But I know that we could have gone just as far as them if we could have just caught fire a little earlier."

The season for all "Elite Eight" teams would be over a day later anyway. But Kenny Stanley and James Heard would have given just about anything to delay thoughts of spring track and baseball just 24 hours longer.

A real shame for cage fans

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

CHAMPAIGN — It's a shame for basketball fans across the state that they didn't get a chance to see the "real" Madison team in action over the weekend at the Class A state tournament held here.

A real shame. But it came down to one of those things a coach or player can't control. An intangible. Fate. Luck.

It all caught up with Madison Coach Larry Graham and his valiant bunch of Trojans Friday as their 75-66 quarterfinal loss to Havana. According to Graham, the team had been "lucky" all season.

But it all seemed to be a reference to a lack of injuries.

Of course, there had been injuries along the way. Every team must endure them. In addition, some disciplinary problems, but the general news conference. When he was asked about Heard and some of the other seniors, tears entered his eyes for the first time.

Those tears were there only a split second and then were gone, choked back. Perhaps nobody else noticed them, but I did.

Graham's been through a lot with Heard. He has nurtured him along as a basketball player. Together they won the state championship in 1977 while Heard was a sophomore.

Neither could practice all week. In fact, neither could hold down much food. The day of the game against Havana was no exception. Heard ate a banana, Jackson dressed for breakfast at the team's motel, but was forced back to his room because of a queasy stomach. The morning of the game, each had a temperature of over 100 degrees.

But you can bet Havana Coach Bob Gregurich is thanking his lucky stars Stanley wasn't at full strength. The 6-1 forward scorched the nets in the second half Friday, scoring a total of 28 points and almost getting his team over the hump and into the semifinals.

The best team was champion New Lenox. Then Madison. I felt going in that Madison would probably finish second to New Lenox. The Celtics are a lot like Madison. They're quick, but I did. They're over Madison's fate. There are hundreds of high school teams who never have and maybe never will get a chance to play in the "Elite Eight." Madison has done it twice in three years.

And unlike many other teams, Madison isn't a "flash-in-the-pan." While Nashville was great this year and last, it's unlikely Nashville will go back to Champaign for many a year. A tiny farming town like Nashville just doesn't come up with two 6-7 giants at the same time very often. Same with Havana. Just two years ago, the Ducks' record was a lousy 5-15.

But Madison, year-in and year-out, has come up with championship-caliber teams. The future is bright at Madison High. The returning varsity players, along with some outstanding freshmen, could give the opposition fits for years to come.

Flyers upset Collinsville

ALTON — The East St. Louis Flyers advanced to the Carbondale (SIU) Super-Regional Basketball Tournament, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow, by defeating the Collinsville Hawks 76-73 here Friday.

The back-and-forth battle was a grudge match of sorts between two old rivals. The Kahoks beat the Flyers in the team's two previous meetings this season, but this time the stakes were higher, and the Flyers pulled the victory out in the final minutes.

With little over a minute left in the game, The Flyers' Collinsville's Gary Kerkemeyer had just pulled his team within two points

The dream vanished

CHAMPAIGN — The dream vanished abruptly for Madison High School's basketball team here Friday afternoon. The place was the Assembly Hall on the campus of the University of Illinois. The event was the eighth annual Illinois State High School basketball (small school) finals.

Madison, the 1977 state champions, had a dream of coming back to Champaign and gaining the title again. But it was not to be. Havana saw to that.

Havana's Ducks were tall, they were quick and they were good. Led by 6-7 junior center Roger King and 5-11 hot-shot guard Brad Gegurich, the Ducks jumped out to a strong lead early in the game.

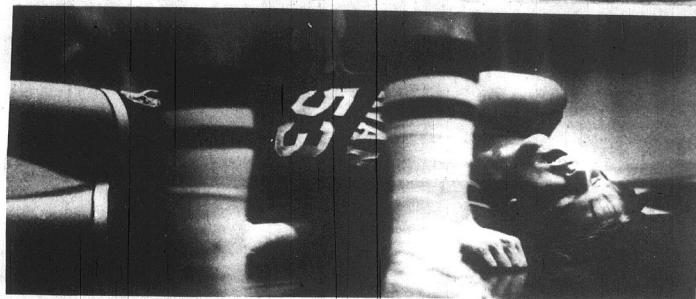

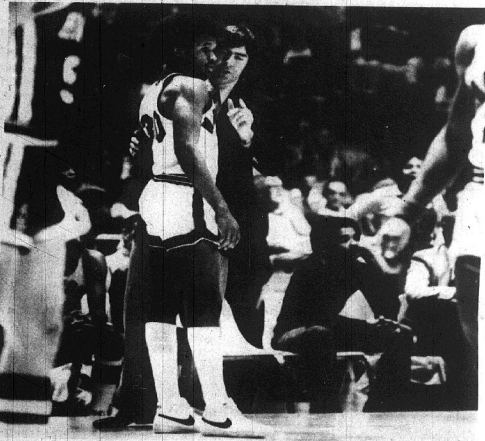

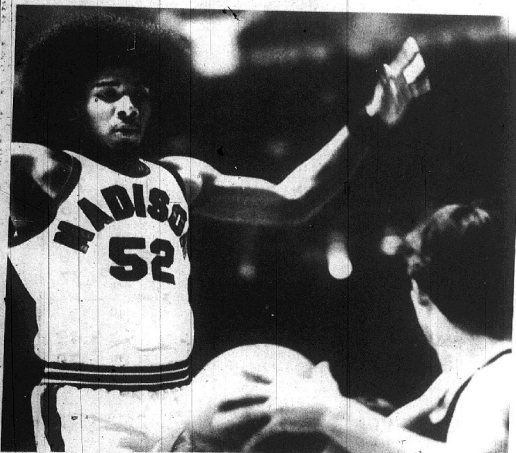

But the Trojans came back. Led by Kenny Stanley, the Madison five managed to get back to within nine points of Havana, but no closer. The gap had been too large.

Names like Eric Stanley, Kenny Stanley, James Heard, They'll never be heard again in reference to Madison basketball.

Havana saw to that.

South girls ousted by Lady Kahoks

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
COLLINSVILLE — Less than a week after Collinsville's Kahok's boys basketball team ended Granite City South's season, the Kahok girls team did the same to the South's girls.

Thursday night in the Collinsville regional championship game, the girls from South lost to the Kahoks, 42-31. The previous Friday the boys team from South lost its regional championship to the Kahoks.

But unlike its male counterparts, South was really never able to put together a strong run at the Kahoks. Collinsville held the Warriors off with its zone press, is common to every Collinsville basketball team be it male or female. But in addition to the defensive abilities the Kahoks displayed, their center Kim Brombelch dominated the scoring.

Brombelch produced ever half of the Kahoks' total points for the game with 22, and pretty much controlled the boards.

To counter Brombelch South experimented with various defensive alignments. South's coach Pat Yates explained, "We started with the zone, but they were beating us with their quick sharp passes."

The Warriors then switched to the man-to-man, but Yates said, "I think they adjusted to the man-to-man better, but we were able to run with it."

Despite these defensive adjustments, the Kahoks and Brombelch could not be stopped. And while Collinsville was able to score on South's defense, the Warriors had problems with the Collinsville press. "Our press didn't steal the ball a whole lot tonight," said Kahok coach Darrell Malano. "But they never really beat it either."

After a slow start by both teams, the Kahoks began to emerge. With about two minutes left in the first quarter, South trailed by only two. But the Warriors, who shot only seven times in the first quarter, couldn't find the basket again in the period, and went into the second quarter down 10-6.

South managed to play almost even with the Kahoks in the second period, scoring nine points to Collinsville's 10. Of these ten 10, Brombelch had eight. The half ended with the score 20-15.

In the second half, Collinsville put South away. The third period saw the Kahoks widen their margin to seven points, even though Brombelch scored only two points.

The Flyers shifted to the

with two free throws.

The Kahoks had a chance to tie the score when Kerkemeyer stole a Flyer pass and headed for the basket. But East St. Louis' James Melton, back defending the goal, collided with Kerkemeyer and both went down. The referee called Kerkemeyer for a charging foul.

Melton went to the line, sunk one of the two free throws, and instead of a tie, Collinsville found itself down 47-17. Maybe more crucial for the Kahok's was the loss of Kerkemeyer, who left the game with his fifth foul.

The Flyers shifted to the delay game, scored two points, held the Kahoks to two, and emerged as the sectional champions.

Each received 92 votes. Fetter was a unanimous pick on the TC works overtime for consolation title

CHAMPAIGN — Timothy Christian (Elmhurst) with a thrilling come-from-behind third place trophy here Saturday night with a thrilling come-from-behind victory over Riverton, 42-40 in double overtime in the Illinois State, Class A Finals.

Timothy Christian's 6-6, center Jeff Heerd grabbed an offensive rebound and scored with two second remaining to give his team, the victory.

Heerd scored 22 points, but wound up three shy of Riverton's Rich Fetter for tournament scoring honors. Fetter scored 24 in the game and 92 in the tournament (four games).

Riverton was in control most of the way through regulation, holding a 32-23 lead late in the third quarter.

But a series of errors by Riverton and some heads-up play by TC cut the deficit to three points going into the final quarter.

Joining Stanley on the second team were Havana center Roger King, Jeff Heerd and Jim Venema of Timothy Christian and Eddie Mathews of Brimfield.

Stanley gains tourney honor

CHAMPAIGN — Madison's Kenny Stanley, despite playing in only one game in the "Elite Eight," was named here Saturday night to the Illinois State Class A All-State Tournament team.

Stanley, who scored a game-high 28 points (22 in the second half) Friday in his team's loss to Havana in the quarterfinals, was named to the all-tournament second team by a vote of sportswriters and broadcasters covering the tournament. He is a 6-1 senior.

Riverton's Rich Fetter and Walter Downing of champion Providence-New Lenox were nearly unanimous choices in the voting conducted by the Associated Press. Each received 92 votes. Fetter was a unanimous pick on the United Press International team.

Other first team members were Havana guard Brad Gegurich, Providence guard Barney Mines and Havana forward Tracey Trimpe.

Joining Stanley on the second team were Havana center Roger King, Jeff Heerd and Jim Venema of Timothy Christian and Eddie Mathews of Brimfield.

Tie blocks pay to Daniels for Venice fires he fought

A question on the legality of Venice Acting Mayor Phillip Daniels accepting pay as mayor and as a member of the Venice City Volunteer Fire Department was questioned again Thursday night at a meeting of the Venice City Council.

When Alderman Henry Svezia made a motion that Daniels' claim of $144 for work done for the volunteer fire department be paid, with a second by Alderman Harry Buente, a roll call vote was taken, ending in a 4-4 tie along North Venice vs. South Venice lines.

Voting in favor of the payment were Svezia, Buente, Daniels and George Mangiaracino. Aldermen voting against the payment were Oscar King, Tyrone Echols, George Lewis and John Ervin.

When an earlier motion had been made by Buente, seconded by King, to pay all city bills from the general fund, Ervin questioned Daniels' fire department pay. Echols also questioned the payment.

Echols is one of three April 17 mayor candidates.

Acting Mayor Daniels asked for a legal opinion. The city attorney said it is up to the council to approve or reject claims against the city.

Daniels is not accepting his pay as alderman, since he is being paid as acting mayor. However, he said he feels he is entitled to pay due him as a member of the fire department.

Buente withdrew his motion to pay all the bills from the general fund and moved to pay all but Daniels. Echols seconded that motion and it passed.

Then the council voted solely on the fire department salary, and the tie developed. No one denied that he responded to the fire calls for which he is listed as eligible to be paid.

The aldermen discussed a building permit for a barbecue stand and the need for the owner's signature rather than the signature of the person renting the property and operating the business. The matter was referred to the legal department.

The council approved the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary conducting their annual "buddy poppy" sales in Venice on May 18 and 19.

The McKinley Bridge traffic report for February indicated 283,439 vehicles crossed the bridge during the month for a daily average of 10,123, an average increase of 1,449 vehicles per day over March 1978.

The arrest report for February listed $160 collected in fines with a total of 19 adult arrests and one juvenile arrest.

Mrs. Izola Robinson reported to the council that persons 35 years of age or older and living on incomes under $3,100 may qualify for part-time employment in the Venice area.

She said there are several temporary job slots available until June 30. Persons who wish more information are being asked to contact Mrs. Robinson at Mayor Daniel's office, Broadway and Klein streets, or phone 877-2412.

Birthday party—a bit late—for Einstein

Albert Einstein would have been 100 years old on March 14. STUE will celebrate his birthday two weeks later, on Wednesday, March 28.

The delay was planned because the week of March 12 was final exam week for the winter quarter at STUE.

Einstein, considered one of the greatest scientists of all time, died in 1955 at the age of 76. He was responsible for key developments in physics, including an explanation in 1905 of the photoelectric effect, for which he received the Nobel prize in 1922.

He is most famous for development of special and general theories of relativity. He is also remembered as a humanist and spokesman on behalf of peace and international cooperation during a period which included two world wars.

Activities are being coordinated by Brian Erdman of the University Center and Tom Baldwin and Ron Bruno of the physics department. Demonstrations, films, music, and talks on Einstein are planned between 10 a.m. and late afternoon in Meridian Ballroom. A big birthday cake will be cut and served about 2 p.m. March 28.

The public and all students from this area are invited to attend the celebrations.

FIRE DELIBERATE

Granite City firemen believe a fire which damaged a wood storage shed at 2308 E. 21st St. Thursday was started intentionally. A plastic gallon container which smelled of a flammable liquid and some burned matches were found inside the shed. A neighbor said she ordered some youths out of the shed, for smoking earlier in the week.

FIRE IN GARAGE

Vandalism is suspected in a fire which damaged a garage at a vacant house at 2414 Grand Ave., last week. Trash around the outside of the garage was set on fire and spread to the rear of the building. No estimate of the damage was made.

Lennox' reputation for quality wasn't built by skipping on materials.

While some manufacturers have begun using aluminum tubing in their heat pump and condensing coils, Lennox has stayed with proven dependable copper tubing. Copper costs a little more, but the advantages are worth it.

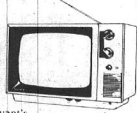

Copper tubing is easier to work with . . . less brittle . . . more flexible . . . makes tight joints. Copper tests show copper holds up to reactive elements in the environment much better than aluminum. Copper vs. aluminum. An important difference. Water rates rise 12.8%

The Illinois-American Water Co. has been granted a 12.8 percent increase in water rates, effective March 14, it was announced Thursday.

The increase is to be applied generally to all classes of water users, a spokesman said. Approval was given by the Illinois Commerce Commission. The water company argued that it had not received a rate increase since 1976, and that inflation has increased operating expenses. In addition, the spokesman said, the company has made capital investments totaling more than $7 million in the last three years.

He said the average residential water bill will increase from $22.40 to $25.30 per quarter (three-month period).

Death and dying: The issues today

DEATH AND DYING: CHALLENGE AND CHANGE I. DEATH AND DYING: THE ISSUES TODAY

Editor's note: This is the first in a series of 15 articles exploring "Death and Dying: Challenge and Change." In this article, sociologist Robert Fulton of the University of Minnesota provides an overview of the issues that most concern us today and that are discussed in this series. The series was written for COURSEWORK BY NEWSPAPER, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

I. DEATH AND DYING: THE ISSUES TODAY

From front page headlines to back page funeral announcements; from the six o'clock news and the latest assassination to the 10-second commercial for cemetery plots; from horror movies to punk rock — death is everywhere.

Whether it be the newspaper, radio, television or the cinema, the communications media present the specter of death to us everyday.

THE DENIAL OF DEATH.
Yet, paradoxically, until quite recently, death has been a "taboo" topic in contemporary America. Our society has developed a "cult of youth" and a strong aversion to the idea of death.

No social institution or group has been free from the attempt to deny our mortality. In the home, at school, from the church pulpit to the "slumber" room of the mortuary, we have attempted to shield ourselves from the prospect of our own death as well as from the death of others.

Such denial and avoidance reflect profound changes that have occurred in the character and structure of society.

Traditionally in Western society, the question of death was answered within a theological context. Death as well as life was seen as part of a Divine plan.

As such, death was acknowledged as an inevitable fact of life, accepted as the will of God, and confronted openly in a context of public rituals and sacred rituals. Today, in contrast, death has become, for a great many, a secular matter. It is a private disaster to be discussed only by the family or close friends.

No longer is death the wages of sin. Today, it is viewed almost exclusively as a physical matter — the outcome of a disease process or the result of an unfortunate accident.

And, as with contagious diseases, those who are caught in the throes of dying are isolated from their fellow human beings, while those who have succumbed to death are quickly hidden from view.

CHANGING PATTERNS OF DYING AND DEATH.
The many issues and problems associated with dying and death have taken on a new significance as the circumstances surrounding dying and death have changed in our society.

First, progress in medical science and the general enhancement of life in the past half-century have meant that the proportion of elderly persons in our society has greatly increased. Twenty-two million people, or 11 percent of our population, are currently over 65 years of age, and their number is growing.

Second, death is primarily the experience of aged persons today. Of those who will die in the United States this year, approximately two-thirds will be 65 years of age or older. On the other hand, children under 15, for whom mortality rates were once very high, now account for less than six percent of total deaths.

Third, the context in which dying and death are experienced has also undergone a significant change. At the beginning of the century, most people died at home. Of the almost two million deaths that occurred in America in 1977, however, more than 70 percent took place outside the home in either a hospital or a nursing home.

The trend toward increased hospitalization and institutionalization of the chronically ill and dying patient is expected to continue.

These changes have a direct effect on family relations. The elderly in today's society are increasingly removed from work and often live physically removed from their children and grandchildren.

In addition, the geographical mobility of our population, as well as urbanization and secularization, deprives the elderly of traditional family and community assistance.

Today, for instance, little more than half the population is church affiliated; the church is not the social resource it was a generation or so ago.

IMPACT ON THE ELDERLY.

Out of these changes emerges a social milieu in which the elderly find themselves isolated. Moreover, the young reject the elderly as constant reminders of our brief mortality, and the elderly sense that rejection.

While many problems are associated with old age per se in the United States, they are frequently aggravated to an intolerable degree by the death of a spouse.

Rich memories are shouldered aside by financial worries, health problems, personal insecurity, as well as loneliness — filling the life of an elderly widow (or widower) with chagrin in our vigorously youth-oriented society.

Furthermore, research indicates that widows are at mortal risk six times greater than their married counterparts, as the result of the stress and other factors associated with their bereavement.

It is indeed the fate of many widows to die prematurely of a "broken heart."

The problem is not a negligible one: more than 10 million women — one out of every six adult women in the United States — are widows.

CHANGING DEATH CUSTOMS.
American society is experiencing rapid social change with regard to death and death customs. We are currently in the process of redefining grief, bereavement and loss, as well as death itself.

The trend toward the minimization of the funeral and the abandonment of mourning customs is a further manifestation of this upheaval.

The black tie, black hat, and black armband as well as the funeral wreath have virtually disappeared as signs of mourning in North America. These changes parallel a growing dissatisfaction with traditional funeral practices.

Since the publication of Jessica Mitford's "The American Way of Death" in the early 1960s, the values of embalming, viewing, and elaborate and expensive caskets have been brought into question.

In the face of these developments and changes, the health care professions continue to observe the traditional directives: protect and prolong human life.

Yet, society's new emerging philosophies and attitudes often conflict with traditional medical practices. Medical personnel, for instance, go to extraordinary lengths to preserve the life of an elderly patient; but when confronted with his or her death, they often avoid the patient.

Complicating the situation further is the increased ability to postpone death through technical and scientific advances. We are thus faced with the new moral dilemmas of when to "let" a patient die by terminating treatments that might sustain his or her life.

NEW DILEMMAS.
These social, demographic, and technological changes call for a reappraisal of what constitutes an appropriate response to death on the part of both the individual and society generally.

Today, we must deal with the ethical dilemmas posed by new technology, such as the right to die and euthanasia; with the special problems of widows in a society that is oriented toward couples; with the dissolution of the role of the aged member in our society; with self-inflicted death — suicide; and finally, with the prospect of nuclear annihilation.

These and other issues related to problems of death and dying will be explored in this 15-week series on "Death and Dying: Challenge and Change," as we seek to confront the denial of death that has marked our society.

Death is the great rupturer both for the individual as well as for society. As we as individuals have struggled to understand the meaning of death, so society has sought the means to deal with this recurring crisis.

To acknowledge a death is to recognize a life. In a society where there is a strong tendency for many to respond to the death of another by turning away, the recognition and acceptance of a death ultimately proclaim a person's individual identity.

NEXT WEEK: David Stannard, author of "The Puritan Way of Death," considers a number of changes in the American way of life and death.

National distribution for Aiassi

Eugene L. Aiassi's book, "Art Education for Special Education," which was copyrighted last year, has been selected for National Microfilm by the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

The book is to be microfilmed by KTO (Krus-Thompson Organization of New York) for inclusion in the national "microfiche" program for 1979.

This program singles out outstanding educational curriculum teaching books to be made available to the nation's schools and other educational institutions.

Unauthorized contributions

Collections for the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children are prohibited unless they have been given authorization by the Temple or the Imperial Shrine office. "If someone calls on you for a donation, they will be Shriners or will have a letter of authorization from the Shrine," an Ainald Temple spokesman reports.

"There is someone in the Tri-City area supposedly collecting for the hospital but they do not have the written consent of Potentate R. H. Ervay, nor does he have the knowledge of who the person is, or group might be. We ask that since we have a large number of Shriners in the Tri-City area, that those contacted call and ask if this is legitimate."

ENRICHMENT WEEKEND

The Living Resource Center will sponsor a marriage enrichment weekend March 23-25 at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, 8600 W. Illinois St. Such weekends provide couples with time together to examine and reaffirm the values of Christian marriage and especially the values of their own relationship.

AVON REPRESENTATIVES IN GLASS. The bottles above help local Avon collectors get to the national convention held for them in conjunction with the National Association of Avon Collectors Clubs. Members of the Metro East Avon Collectors Club are proud of this collection of national bottles.

New collectors club organized here

The collecting of Avon bottles is an extremely popular pastime in the Quad-Cities. There is a new club in town for such collectors, known as the Metro East Avon Collectors Club.

The newly organized club is affiliated with the National Association of Avon Clubs and already has over 40 members.

Those who are involved say that Avon bottle collecting is the best hobby around.

James Hackney, vice-president of the new organization, said Avon collecting is "one of the few hobbies that you will never outgrow — because there are so many collectibles that you could collect all of your life and never find them all."

The biggest thrill for the collector, according to Hackney, is to find an old and valuable item at a flea market or garage sale, at a very low price. Collectors gather at club meetings to tell each other of the lucky and unusual finds they have come across.

The new club was formed so that collectors could get together on the Illinois side of the river to compare collections and learn more about their hobby.

"You will never find two collections alike," Hackney said. "There are just too many items to be found."

A large number of Avon bottles have risen in price because they are getting hard to find," he continued, "and will continue to rise, making collecting, buying and selling very exciting."

A sideline to collecting of the Avon product bottles is collecting and selling those bottles put out by the National Association of Avon Clubs.

New bottles, depicting Avon representatives, come out every so often. The local clubs sell these bottles in order to raise money to send members to national conventions. These bottles become collectors' items in themselves because they are put out on a limited edition basis.

The new organization will help the First Avon Collectors Club of the St. Louis Area with this year's national show, which will be held at the Chase-Park Plaza, St. Louis, in June.

They will sponsor their own show during the last week in September at the VFW Hall, Collinsville. It will be their "first annual show."

The Metro East Avon Collectors Club meets on the third Wednesday of the month at 7:30 p.m. at the Sanitary District office, 1801 Madison Ave.

Those interested in finding out more about the club or the hobby may attend the next meeting, Wednesday, March 21, or may call Mrs. Evelyn Alexander, president, 1-667-2166, or James Hackney, 676-0216.

Art Guild to hear Mrs. Schisler

Featured speaker for this month's meeting of the Granite City Artists Guild Tuesday evening at 7 will be a local artist, Mary Schisler, who will give a demonstration in oils entitled "Sculpting in Light."

Mrs. Schisler has been the recipient of many awards in local and regional exhibitions, including "best show" at the Madison County Town and Country Art Show in 1973 for "Olympia," an impressionistic landscape painted in acrylics.

She enjoys working in various media, and for a number of years taught private classes in watercolor, oils and acrylics.

Character studies and landscapes are favorite subjects for her brush.

Mrs. Schisler set up and managed in 1974-75 the Attic Gallery in the Whistle Stop Country Store, near Edwardsville, where she displayed and sold many of her works as well as works by other selected local artists.

Originally from Chicago, Mrs. Schisler came to this area with her husband and daughter in 1970.

Over the years, her art studies have included classes at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts, American Academy of Art and Ray-Vogue School of Design. In addition, she has studied with private instructors in Rockford, Ill., Sarasota, Fla., and the St. Louis and local areas.

Currently, Mrs. Schisler is a sales associate with Abrams Realty 1 in Granite City.

Granite City Artists Guild meetings are held on the third Tuesday of each month, at 7 p.m., at 1412 Madison Ave.

The organization is devoted to advancement of civic and cultural interests related to visual arts and crafts, providing social features to promote these purposes. Anyone interested in becoming a member may phone 452-1799 for information.

Madisonians are honored

Five seniors from Assumption High School, East St. Louis, have been designated as state scholars by the Illinois State Scholarship Commission.

They were selected on the basis of their scores on the American College Test, taken during the junior year, and their academic standing.

The students are: Donna Gordon, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Tom Gordon of Madison; Reginald Hudlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warrington Hudlin of East St. Louis; Barbara King, daughter of Mrs. Dianne Sheer of Caseyville; Lisa Sandor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sandor of Madison; and Mary Carol Werner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Werner of Fairview Heights.

The students will receive certificates recognizing this academic achievement. In order to be considered for a monetary award from the state of Illinois, a confidential financial statement must be filed with the ISSC.

DRIVER SHOWS GUN

A motorist told police that a man driving an older blue 1967 or '68 Chevrolet, who had stopped in the roadway blocking both southbound lanes at East 27th Street and Nameoki Road, displayed a gun when the motorist honked his car horn at the blue car. The auto then went south on Nameoki Road and west on Edwardsville Road.

Blood donors here give hope to cancer patients

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Teachers, parents, policemen and the public in general were involved in last week's one-day drive to get vital blood platelets for leukemia and cancer patients undergoing chemotherapy.

The blood donor campaign, coordinated by the Tri-City American Red Cross Chapter, was under the sponsorship of the Granite City Area Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

It was the second annual blood drive for this special purpose to be conducted by the PTA council, according to Don Kopp, Nameoki School principal and blood chairman for the local Red Cross chapter.

He said a total of 172 donors participated, with 142 units of whole blood contributed for use in the local community.

"This was an important day," Kopp said, noting that all blood collected was designated for immediate processing to extract plasma and manufacture platelets. Blood donated for this purpose must be collected at a source no more than one hour's drive from the Missouri-Illinois Regional Red Cross Blood Center, 4050 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis.

Close proximity of collection points to the blood center is necessary to enable the plasma to be separated from the red cells immediately as part of a process, all of which must be completed within a four-hour period of the whole blood being donated. Everything connected to platelet production is geared to time and a short period of time compared to processes for usual blood storage and usage.

During last week's drive, a representative of the Missouri-Illinois Red Cross came to the Nameoki Recreation Center several times to collect blood as it became available from donors and transfer it to the blood center for centrifuging. In addition to fast separation of red cells from the platelet-rich plasma via centrifuging, another factor of equal importance is that it can take no longer than 10 minutes for a donor to give the blood in the first place. If it takes even a few seconds longer, blood that had been scheduled for platelet production has to be used for something else.

Once the platelets themselves are produced, they must be transfused to a patient within 72 hours after their manufacture.

Platelets can be a matter of life and death to those needing the important little pluggers.

Platelets are just the blood clot by rushing to the scene of heavy bleeding and building little walls to stop the flow of blood.

In a normal, healthy person, there are about 1.5 trillion platelets in the bloodstream. After a short life of only 10 days, they are removed from the blood by natural functions, mainly in the spleen and liver.

DONATING BLOOD at the Granite City Area PTA Council's blood drive is GC Police Officer J. W. "Bill" Apperson. Above, he looks none the worse for his experience. At right, he is accepting a glass of orange juice from volunteer worker Mary Geroff, a first grade teacher at Webster School, immediately after giving blood. A total of 171 donors contributed blood in the one-day drive to secure platelets, which must be extracted from whole blood within four hours of collection.

Unfortunately, some people cannot make them in their bodies.

Leukemia and cancer patients undergoing chemotherapy are unable to make their own platelets because the drugs which fight their disease cannot distinguish between healthy and unhealthy tissue. While chemotherapy is destroying diseased cells, it is also destroying the person's bone marrow, where platelets are produced.

Because these patients cannot make their own platelets, they must depend on transfusions of this blood component from other people.

The regional Red Cross blood program makes 150 or more platelets units each weekend and 85 each Saturday to meet this need as whole blood becomes available from nearby communities.

The average adult usage is eight to 10 platelet units per transfusion, while some very ill patients may need as many as 20 or 30 units daily. Because supplies must be fresh, the Quad-City area is especially important to collecting blood for platelet production, Kopp said.

Patients from this area alone need about 300 platelets each day, the chairman added.

Fifty-five volunteer workers, including parents, teachers and two Granite City police officers, helped to conduct the blood donor clinic here.

"We are grateful for the assistance of every individual in the program and also for the help of the Park District and Pepsi Cola Bottling Co., which provided us with soda," Kopp said. Barbara Haddock, Area PTA Council president, was in charge of volunteers for the drive and Linda Fussell, Nameoki PTA president, supervised the appointments for donors.

Granite City Police Officers David Anderson and J. W. "Bill" Apperson served as volunteer drivers for donors needing transportation to the center, and also were donors themselves.

Both officers are active in Granite City Police Local 1347, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union.

Kopp said the PTA council has agreed to sponsor a similar blood drive Feb. 26 and 27, 1980, as a means of encouraging other groups to set blood gathering campaigns on a regular—annual or semi-annual—basis.

Eagles offer aid to 'seniors'

Chris VonNida, chairman of the Eagles Aerie 1126 senior citizen program, met last week with members of the Granite City Senior Citizens Council to discuss informally the problems and needs of senior residents in the community. Mrs. Ruby Corbett, council president, also accepted a $100 check from the Granite City Eagles, to be used where the council believes it will accomplish the most good.

Programs sponsored by the Eagles are financed with funds donated by the fraternal group's membership and from different benefit projects. VonNida explained.

Proceeds from a St. Patrick's Day dance at the Eagles Home will be contributed to the seniors' fund. Mrs. Corbett, VonNida and other council representatives met at the Granite City Township Building to review projects of benefit to senior residents, including a Thanksgiving Day dinner for any senior citizen who will be alone that day.

VonNida said plans are being coordinated to furnish Christmas baskets to seniors who are most in need of this type of assistance. Donations will be continued to Meals on Wheels, a hot meal program, and funds will be set aside to assist a senior resident who may be confronted with an emergency.

Similar programs also were discussed in which Eagles members are interested in helping the elderly.

NEEDS OF SENIORS are discussed informally by Mrs. Ruby Corbett, president of the Senior Citizens Council of Granite City, and Chris VonNida, chairman of Eagles Aerie 1126 programs involving senior citizens. The latter presented a $100 check to the council.

Granite City VFW host to District 12

Veterans of Foreign Wars posts and auxiliary units in District 12 convened last week at VFW Post 1300 hall, 2044 Washington Ave., for a district session.

Local Post Commander Robert Conaway and Auxiliary President Olive Conaway were hosts for the two-day meeting.

A special guest was Merla Hansel, winner of the National VFW Voice of Democracy contest, who was sponsored by Highland VFW Post 5694 and Auxiliary.

Miss Hansel, who was accompanied to the meeting by her parents, repeated her award winning speech for the assembly.

Other guests were Granite City Mayor and Mrs. Paul Schuler, Frank Rice of Gillespie VFW Post 4547, senior vice commander of the state VFW Department and Carolyn Gorin of Littlefield Auxiliary Unit 3912, state junior vice president.

Memorial services were held and separate meetings were conducted by District Commander Ted Olshead of Wood River Post 2859 and Lois Huff of Collinsville Auxiliary Unit 5691, district president.

The 12th District consists of VFW posts and auxiliaries in Madison, Bond, Jersey and Macoupin counties.

BPW will honor 'volunteer woman'

Ev Smith, president of Directions Unlimited, an advertising specialties firm in Fairview Heights, will be guest speaker Wednesday night at the Granite City Business and Professional Women's "public relations" dinner meeting.

The dinner, starting at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Granite City Township Building, 2050 Delmar Ave., will recognize members of the media and others.

Of special interest this year will be the introduction and recognition of candidates for Volunteer Woman of the Year honors.

Twelve candidates have been nominated by area organizations and individuals for the first annual award to be bestowed on a local woman.

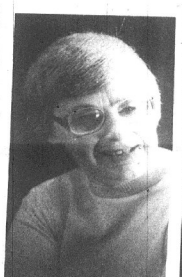

Florence Moore, club public relations and dinner chairman, said all have outstanding qualifications in the realm of volunteer service here.

Awards also will be presented to the club's Young Careerist and Individual Development Speak-Off winner, together with membership awards.

Miss Smith, known by many clients and friends as "the idea lady," has been in the advertising field since 1968.

She is state public relations chairman for the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women.

Miss Smith will speak on "Public Relations-Community Relations," and will emphasize the merits of volunteer work by women who contribute both their time and talents to civic and cultural endeavors.

Dealing with business and teaching careers

Randy and Linda Irwin—togetherness

Running a funeral home might be considered by some to be a depressing sort of business. For Randy and Linda Irwin, who own and operate Irwin's Chapel for Funerals, it is not too difficult because they deal with it together.

Having just opened the establishment a year ago, the Irwins live in an apartment over the funeral home. They seem to have no trouble with the transition from overseeing a funeral to becoming just plain folks.

"It's not too difficult," said

Linda. "When we go upstairs for the evening, we leave most of the funeral business downstairs."

The Irwins enjoy doing things together, even though Randy's work keeps him out (downstairs) quite a bit of the time. Both enjoy animals and belong to the Animal Protection Association. They have a dog and a cat which entertain them when they are not working.

Both love to go camping, swimming, hiking and other things that take them out of doors. Another of their favorite things to do is dining out.

"We both love to eat in different kinds of restaurants," said Linda, "but Randy is quite a cook and lots of times I let him take over in the kitchen."

Although Linda spends her days teaching at Lake School, she finds time to help her husband downstairs her husband.

She also sends out newspaper clippings several times a week.

Randy has a lot of business things that he does when he is not actually handling a funeral. He does quite a bit of speaking on the funeral business to various groups.

"People are interested in how funerals are done here, as well as the customs in other parts of the world," he said.

Both are involved in many church activities at Central Christian Church, where Randy is a deacon. Both love antiques and are always on the lookout for some great finds, especially phonographs.

"Randy loves the old victrolas," Linda said. "Those we have are his pride and joy."

Of course, there are times when doing things alone is important. Linda has her plants and Randy has his matchbook collection. But for the most part, the Irwins' interests are those they can share.

"I may be all dressed up, helping Randy during a funeral, and two hours later I'll be cleaning and dusting — such a fright that I can only hope that no one comes in," Linda said.

Doing things together is what keeps the Irwins happy and content in both their business and professional lives. It is that togetherness, the Irwins contend, that makes the business of providing funeral service not at all a depressing way to make a living, but rather a fulfilling and rewarding career.

Concert tonight by North band

The Granite City High School North concert band will present the third in its series of four concerts tonight at 8 in the North cafeteria.

The 105-member band, under the direction of Robert D. Todoroff, will present a musical collage of modern, traditional, exceptional and standard concert literature during the hour-long concert.

A total ensemble sound will be featured throughout the program mixing the harmonious aspects of woodwind, brass and percussion in unique ways.

Selections will include: "Chorale and Allegro" by C. Smith, "Dance Arabe" by Edward Greig, "Lyric Statement" by J. Zdechlik, "La Bella Roma" by J. Cacavas, "The Hunters" from the Ballet "Sylvia" by L. Delibes, "Lola Flores," a Paso Doble rhythm by T. Tucci, "Dubinushka" by Rimsky-Korsakoff and an unusual composition which musically explores the functions of the mind, "Deliberations," a miniature suite by A. Estes.

Narrator for the concert this season is senior trombonist Jerome Noeth. Arrangements for the concert series are under the sponsorship of the North Band Parents Association, of which Harold Stoker is president. Admission is by season ticket or 50 cents for students and $1 for adults at the door. The final concert of the season will be on Monday, April 30.

Following tonight's performance, the North band is scheduled to make an appearance at the Park District "Winter Carnival" on Tuesday. This appearance will feature the Steel Pep Band, the Steel City Belles pom pom squad and the North Guard flag and rifle squads for their first appearance at this annual event.

On Thursday, March 22, the North Pep Band and Steel City Belles and North Guard will present an assembly program at Worden High School.

New maintenance employment policy

The Madison School Board on Thursday night adopted a new policy regarding the hiring of maintenance personnel.

When a job vacancy occurs in the maintenance department, the maintenance supervisor will screen all applications for the position and, when possible, recommend and submit to the board data on three candidates for the final selection.

A discussion was held for future action by the board on whether to have all pending applications for various positions in the district updated by the applicant every year.

It was suggested by Board member Chester McManaway that all applications in the file that are over a year old — and that are not updated by the applicant — be considered inactive and discarded.

The board approved district secretaries attending the Illinois Association of Education

Secretaries spring conference in Centralia on April 20 and 21.

Action was taken by the board declaring Friday, March 16, an emergency day, with students and teachers allowed to attend the Illinois state basketball championship tournament in which Madison High School participated.

The day is to be made up during the school year.

In the absence of President Sam Dymas, McManaway served as chairman of the meeting.

The Schools and Hospitals Energy Conservation grant program, part of the National Energy Act enacted in November, will assist Illinois schools with their energy conservation programs, it was noted.

A series of meetings sponsored by the Illinois Office of Education in conjunction with the Institute of Natural Resources will be conducted beginning March 21 to help schools set up their individual district energy conservation programs.

The board approved: Trinity Tabernacle Church use of Madison High School grounds for an Easter egg hunt on April 15; a band and vocal concert Friday, April 6, and a dog show in May, both at Dunbar; and two field trips by Dunbar students.

Certificates were received by the board from Harold E. Briggs, regional superintendent of schools Madison County, for food service personnel who completed a special food service course.

Certificates were received for Eleanor Barge, Marie

Moore, Sophie Lelleniewski, Cecelia Fingel, Louise Gunn and Edna Hagsdale.

RECOVER STOLEN CAR. The auto of Dr. Suresh Chand, Florissant, who has a medical practice at 2550 Benton St., was stolen from the 1300 block of Niedringhaus Avenue between 6:45 and 9:25 p.m. Monday and was found by St. Louis District Nine police. Granite City authorities were notified at 4:05 a.m. Wednesday.

The Ida-Red is a cross of Jonathan and Wagener varieties. It was developed in Idaho and is nearly all red in color; thus named an Ida-Red. Fruit is firm, crisp and juicy with a taste similar to a Jonathan Apple. Flesh is firm white and tends to resist browning. This is an excellent all purpose apple — great for eating, baking, sauces, and pies. The primary growing area is Michigan. Their popularity is fast spreading in the north and they are rapidly becoming one of Michigan's major varieties.
